NEFF owns and manages more than 140 community forests that total about 28,000 acres, and has also helped conserve more than 1.1 million acres through conservation easements. These easements are land protection agreements between NEFF and partner forest landowners. While NEFF does not own these properties, the easement permanently protects the land.